Testimony Against Gillham Dam

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — The majority of those who testified Tuesday at a hearing called by the Army Engineers were against completion of the Gillham Dam on the scenic Cossatot River in Southwest Arkansas.

Only two of the 16 persons who appeared at the hearing offered statements in support of the dam. The other 14 opposed construction mainly contending that the project would ruin the last major free-flowing stream in the Ouachita Mountains and damage the environment of the area.

Tuesday's hearing was the first of two scheduled by Army Engineers in their effort to acquire additional information on a new environmental impact statement on the dam. U. S. District Court Judge G. Thomas Eisele ordered the Engineers to submit a new statement after it was learned that the original statement did not comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Eisele ordered the Engineers to halt construction on the dam until a study was made of all possible environmental consequences of the project, which is 63 per cent complete. No structure has been built across the stream bed but more than $9 million has been spent on related work.

The $15 million project is designed mainly for flood control. Bernie Hill of DeQueen, who spoke for the dam, said he had seen many farm families wiped out from flood waters of the Cossatot since moving to DeQueen in 1938.

John Dyer of Weyerhaeuser Co. in Hot Springs said his firm supported completion of the dam to prevent flooding so industrial development could expand. After a second hearing on Sept. 8, Eisele is expected to examine the new impact statement and rule whether it complies with the Environmental Policy Act.

The Flying Grandmother Succumbs

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Sarah Krasnoff, the 74-year-old Cleveland, Ohio, woman who flew back and forth across the Atlantic nearly every day this summer with her 14-year-old grandson, died today, her son-in-law reported. She died at the hotel where she had been ordered to rest after suffering a slight heart attack Tuesday.

"I have just been informed by the manager of this hotel that grandmother passed away in her sleep at 1 a.m. today," said Leonard Gelfand from Cleveland.

"That is really all I have to say right now, until I have seen my son."

Gelfand arrived early today from Cleveland to take Mrs. Krasnoff and his son Howard, 14, back to Ohio.

Pair Forfeits $50 Bonds

HEBER SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Bobby Joe Harrington, 27, and James Milton Sipes, 31, both of North Little Rock, forfeited $50 bond each Tuesday when they failed to appear in Heber Springs Municipal Court to face minor traffic charges.

They were in Little Rock at a Civil Service Commission hearing for two of three Little Rock policemen who were fired for allegedly beating Sipes and Harrington Aug. 9.

Sipes and Harrington had been arrested at Little Rock and were charged with burglary.

Senate Group National President Denied Data on Arms-aid

By LAWRENCE L. KNUSTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, claiming executive privilege for the second time since taking office, has denied the Senate Foreign Relations Committee data on military-aid plans.

The action brought to a head an already bitter battle over secrecy with committee Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who sought a document he said detailed a five-year plan of military assistance.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said such a document never existed, but U.S. Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats looked into the dispute and ruled on Aug. 17 the Pentagon

Hope Low in Per-pupil Expenditures

The basis of the California ruling was that some school districts have more money to spend per child than other school districts, because they have more property to tax. It called this discrimination against the children in the poorer districts and therefore unconstitutional.

Similar disparities exist in all states, including Arkansas in the 1970-71 school district ranged from about $300 in many districts to more than $900 in a few districts. The average expenditure per pupil for the entire state was $436.

The average expenditure per pupil for a few districts last year, chosen at random, were:

Little Rock, $564.
North Little Rock, $496.
Pulaski County, $422.
Gillett, $707.
Ross Van Ness in Chicot County, $997.

Dixie in Craighead County, $957.

Jonesboro, $437.
Craighead County (average for all 10 districts), $443.

Hope, $399.
Hempstead County (average for all six districts), $413.

More Latitude in Race Balancing in Schools Indicated by Ruling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Chief Justice Warren E. Burger's reminder that racial balance may vary from school to school may indicate more latitude in the design of desegregation plans than some officials had realized.

Burger issued the reminder Tuesday in denying a stay for a desegregation plan which provides for the busing of 15,000-16,000 of the 46,000 pupils in the Winston-Salem and Forsyth County, N.C., school system.

The chief justice acted as presiding district judge for North Carolina. When the Supreme Court is not in session, a justice may rule on a case in his judicial district.

In rejecting the Winston-Salem district's request for a stay, Burger held that the application did not adequately list hardships that allegedly would result from busing.

Burger said he was concerned that the school board mistakenly thought it had to achieve a white-black ratio in every school identical with the over-all district ratio.

In an April 20 decision dealing with desegregation of schools at Charlotte, N.C., the Supreme Court held that large-scale busing is an appropriate means to achieve racial desegregation.

But the opinion, written by Burger, also said: "The constitutional command to desegregate schools does not mean that every school in every community must always reflect the

California Ruling on School Financing May Lead to Similar Suits

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

Government and school officials across the nation say a precedent-shattering California Supreme Court school finance ruling could lead to similar suits in other states and ultimately revolutionize American public school education.

"The California decision could be as precedent-setting as the one-man, one-vote ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court," said Michael J. Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction in Illinois.

A spokesman for Vermont Gov. Deane C. Davis said the decision "opens a Pandora's box." If the ruling is upheld in the federal courts "it could revolutionize education in this country," he said.

M. Carl Holman, president of the National Urban Coalition, predicted the ruling would "ultimately ... be as momentous" as the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court school desegregation decision.

The California court ruled Monday that the local property tax form of public school financing is unconstitutional on the ground that it discriminates against the poor. It did not spell out what would be an equitable tax structure.

With the exception of Hawaii and to some extent Utah, every state in the union uses a school finance system like California's. Over the last three years, similar suits and legislation in at least eight states had failed to eliminate public school dependence on local property taxes.

"The decision is the precursor to future court decisions that will bring dramatic reform and increased equal educational opportunity to poor school children throughout the country," said NIC President Holman.

"We anticipate, then, that the experimentation will flow from the California decision with a variety of remedies rather than the immediate selection of a single formula to replace the present state funding systems in education," Holman said.

Not everyone agreed the ruling was good. Mayor A. Federic Leopold of Beverly Hills, Calif., assailed the decision, declaring, "The way to improve the bottom is not to drag the top down."

"Beverly Hills has long been known as a lighthouse district pioneering in new courses, new teaching techniques and new social approaches to education that have been used by school districts throughout the state," the mayor of the wealthy community said.

"If the current decision is allowed to stand, it will end those statewide benefits," she said, and predicted the U.S. Supreme Court would reverse the ruling on appeal.

In Alabama, the legislature moved closer to enactment of a bill offered by Gov. George C. Wallace which would restrict court-ordered busing of pupils if their parents determine that "time or distance of travel is so great as to risk the health or safety of the child or significantly impinge on the educational process."

The wording comes almost verbatim from the Supreme Court's April 20 decision. Meanwhile more Southern schools opened Tuesday under new desegregation orders. In most cases, compliance with federal mandates was the rule.

Revenues Up $4.1 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Revenue Department said Tuesday that tax collections were about $4.1 million greater in August of 1971 than in August of last year.

The department's monthly report showed that general revenue collections last month total almost $23.3 million.

The report said some of the increased revenue is attributable to tax increases approved by the 1971 General Assembly.

U.S. Wants Cuba Airlift Continued

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials say the United States has asked Cuba to continue the six-year-old Cuban refugee airlift. But there appears scant prospect Premier Fidel Castro will say yes.

Havana's intent to shut down the U.S.-financed shuttle flights from Varadero to Miami was announced Tuesday. Still awaiting Cuban approval for travel to America are some 100,000 Cubans with relatives in the United States.

The officials said the Swiss Embassy, representing the United States in Havana, has urged the Castro government to keep the airlift going until all who want leave with their families have left Cuba.

If the twice-a-day flights end, a unique chapter in the history of large-scale immigration to

Dollar Gains Strength in Europe

By DONALD FORBES
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar gained strength against the West German mark and the French franc today while holding steady against the Japanese yen.

The wave of monetary changes in the wake of President Nixon's New Economic Policy finally reached Moscow. The Soviet government increased the value in rubles of 15 foreign currencies but maintained the previous dollar rate of $1.11 to the ruble.

On the Frankfurt money market, the dollar opened at 3.4 marks compared with 3.3965 at the close Tuesday. Dealers said the improvement was due to a strong demand for dollars. The opening price represented a 7.1 per cent upward revaluation of the dollar against the dollar's official 3.66 parity, a rate abandoned last May when the mark was set free to float.

On the Paris free market, the dollar recovered from Tuesday's sharp slump to trade for 5.33 to 5.35 francs, equivalent to a devaluation of about 3.8 per cent from the official parity of 5.55 francs.

The dollar had closed Tuesday at 5.31 francs, its lowest level since the French set up a two-tier market Aug. 23.

On the official market, in bank-to-bank trading, the dollar pulled slightly off the floor level of 5.5125.

On the Tokyo market, the dollar opened and closed at the same interbank rate, 338.60 yen, equivalent to a 6.5 per cent decline from the dollar's official rate of 360 yen.

The dollar bought 40.71 pence in London, down slightly Tuesday. The official quotation was $2.456 to the pound compared with $2.4525 at Tuesday night's close.

The changes in the value of the ruble were intended to cover currency transactions inside the Soviet Union for the month of September. The upward revaluation was not expected to affect Soviet trade, which is calculated in dollars at the arbitrary rate of $1.11.

The French franc and the Finnish mark which also have been strong against the dollar, were not included.

Labor Suits Challenge Constitutionality of the Wage-Price Freeze

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two labor groups and Boston policemen have filed lawsuits challenging the constitutionality of President Nixon's wage-price freeze, especially as it applies to deferred pay raises and government employees.

The Justice Department, replying Tuesday to a similar suit brought last week by four Catholic University professors in Washington, said an injunction against the 90-day freeze would result "in the irreparable dislocation of the President's program to stem inflation, reduce unemployment and reduce our trade deficit."

Although the professors contend the Economic Stabilization Act under which Nixon acted is unconstitutional because Congress gave its legislative powers to the executive branch, the administration replied the law meets constitutional standards.

The new challenges were filed Tuesday in Washington by postal unions representing 650,000 workers; in Kansas City by Local 124, AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers with about 2,000 members, and in Boston by the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association.

The postal unions seek a court order to thaw a $250 pay raise due Oct. 21 plus automatic in-grade raises. They assert the law creating the new U.S. Postal Service exempts contracts with its employees from any other congressional act.

Little Change Expected in Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Little Change is expected in the Arkansas weather picture. The forecast calls for continued warm temperatures and a chance of showers through Thursday.

A weak high pressure ridge continues to move moisture laden winds into the state, increasing the chance of precipitation. The ridge is also producing slightly warmer temperatures.

High Tuesday ranged from 86 at Fayetteville to 90 at Pine Bluff, Texarkana and Fort Smith.

Highs Thursday should be in the 80s to mid 90s in the western portion of the state and mid 80s to low 90s in the eastern portion. Lows tonight are forecast in the 60s to low 70s.

Election in Vietnam Is Set Oct. 3

SAIGON (AP) — The government announced tonight that the presidential election will be held Oct. 3 as scheduled with President Nguyen Van Thieu as the only candidate.

The announcement appeared to dash all U.S. hopes and efforts by U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker to make the presidential election a multiple race. Bunker had met two straight nights with Thieu in seeking a solution.

The announcement from the office of Acting Premier Nguyen Luu Vien noted that the Supreme Court on Tuesday had removed the name of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky from the president's race.

Ky had been on the ballot on a technicality, but had asked that his name be removed. He charged that the election was rigged by Thieu and he would not participate.

Firing of L.R. Officers Is Upheld

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock Civil Service Commission Tuesday unanimously upheld the firing by Chief of Police Gale Weeks of three Little Rock patrolmen for allegedly beating two burglary suspects.

The officers, Doyle Webb, 30, Torie Phillips, 24, and Raymond L. Miller, 26, were dismissed Aug. 9 after Bobby Joe Harrington, 27, and James M. Sipes, 31, both of North Little Rock said they were beaten by the officers after being arrested for allegedly burglarizing a Little Rock restaurant. Miller was found shot to death at his home Aug. 18 and officials have ruled suicide.

Sipes and Harrington were charged with burglary, possession of burglary tools and possessing stolen property. When they appeared in Municipal Court Aug. 10 for a preliminary hearing, both had extensive bruises and lacerations on their faces.

Dale Price, attorney for the police department, told the commission that Harrington was handcuffed and knocked to the ground with a "slapper" by Webb.

Price also contended that Phillips both struck and kicked one of the suspects after they had been taken to the city jail.

Several policemen and other witnesses to the arrests said the three officers did not use unnecessary force while arresting the suspects.

Gene Worsham, attorney for the officers, said the two suspects had sustained a large part of their injuries by falling through a hole in the ceiling of the restaurant during the course of the burglary.

Patrolman Johnny Maack told the commission that force had to be used to subdue the two suspects.

Maack testified that Harrington, the first to be lowered to the ground after he and Sipes were arrested on the roof of the restaurant, hit the ground in front of Miller "like a track star" and slipped past him either "stumbling or trying to run."

Maack said that Miller struck a glancing blow at Harrington but that Webb finally caught him about 20 feet away after striking Harrington on the back with his slapstick.

The blow apparently caused Harrington to fall "face down against the ground," Maack said, and Webb fell on top of him.

Worsham said the commission's decision would be appealed to Circuit Court "where city-hall politics ceases to be a factor."

THE TROUBLE WITH WOMEN...

Dear Helen:

This is difficult to write, for I respect women. But lately they don't merit as much respect.

If I am unenlightened, I can learn, but let's have an understanding! The corner bar is a man's meeting place. Unescorted females, perhaps wrongly, are considered fair game. If they aren't on the make, they should stay the heck out, or come with a man who can stay comparatively sober.

I abhor the witch who scouts the old man at the bar, then shrieks like a fishwife if he "scouts" back. Too often she interrupts a business drink, and her shrewishness can foul up a whole deal.

Also, if women are going to wear hotpants (we called 'em short-shorts in my day), for cryin' out loud, can't they wear panties under them? If they don't, there's no real reason for griping to the local gendarmerie if passes are made. Most males are predatory, as are some females. If they can't play for the stakes of the game, they should stay out of it!

To put it more bluntly, how many women these days know how to be a real lady, to keep from emasculating a man; to be a wife a husband is truly proud of? —JOSEPH Dear Joe:

Roughly, several million. But the "witches" get the attention, yes?

(And your letter will get static from the liberation front!) —H. Dear Helen:

I'm in love with a European man, but he says all American women are bossy because we've been spoiled by wishy-washy American men, who let us run the house and bank account, then call them "male chauvinists."

How can I prove I want a dominating man? He thinks I'm putting on a show to trap him—another "U.S. female characteristic." —AMERICAN WOMAN Dear Woman:

A characteristic of your European male is apparently nimbleness. Not wanting marriage, a quick-thinker lays the blame on "women in general."

Tell him European men are all right to date but you wouldn't want to marry one—and maybe he'll change his tune. —H. Dear Helen:

Concerning the letter on a "bill of divorcement," this man's Bible version of divorce may still satisfy both God and our present court system.

If the separation is friendly and no property battles are involved, he may have properly drawn up the easily obtainable legal standard forms and submit them to the court without the aid of a lawyer.

My point is, God's law, when correctly introduced, should hold up in any just court. —FRANK Dear Frank:

Don't count on it!

For the sake of argument, how about this: "When a man is newly married, he shall not go out with the army or be charged with any business; he shall be free at home one year to be happy with his wife..." (Deut. 24:5)

Draft boards: Take note! —H. Dear Helen:

A cure for cigarette moochers: When that "reformed smoker" comes around to borrow "just one more," offer him my special discourager. Get quinine capsules (five grains) at the drug store. Apply a smidgen of powder to the cigarette tip, or put a trace in the bottom of the package. Be sure it doesn't show. The taste lingers after a puff or two, so that even the sight of a cigarette repels. This is great to use on people who want to quit smoking, as well as on chronic beggars. —W.A.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Raymond Burr soon will start his fifth season playing a crusty San Francisco police detective named Ironside. The off-camera Burr, however is involved in work for the handicapped, running a South Seas island, and raising orchids.

An active man whose enthusiasms are as large as his physical frame, Burr has also found a new cause, one which has emerged logically from his experiences in the role of a man permanently paralyzed from the waist down by a killer's bullet.

"The handicapped are one of the biggest minorities in this country," he said. "We're trying to call attention to some of their special problems. We're agitating for changes in building codes so that doors will be built wide enough for wheel chairs. Right now it is almost impossible for the handicapped to get chairs into telephone booths, polling booths or even to use public toilets."

"We have some local legislation started to widen entrances to public buildings. We're campaigning for ramps instead of curbs at cross walks. We think there should be at least a percentage of rooms in apartment houses and hotels built so people in wheel chairs can get around without help."

The actor's knowledge of the day-by-day problems of the crippled has been accumulated over "Ironside's" run on NBC. Since the handicapped identify with the heroic detective, Burr is careful that the capabilities of this man who has lost the use of his legs are never exaggerated.

When there is any question, it is referred to one of the program consultants, a paraplegic in his 50s who tests the scene. If he can go through it, it stays in the show. If not, it is rewritten.

Burr works hard at his craft and pursues his many outside interests with the same concentration.

During a visit to the South Seas, he was so impressed he bought a whole island in the Fijis, complete with copra plantation, thus becoming grand seigneur and beneficent landlord to its population of more than 100. He spends a couple of months a year there now and expects eventually to make it his home half of the year.

His original amateur interest in orchids has expended into a commercial operation. He works with thousands of seedlings, and keeps meticulous records of cross-breeding experiments to find new forms, shapes and unusual colors. He thinks he has bred a pure blue orchid of commercial quality—a horticulturalist's dream, but since it takes each plant seven years from seed to flower, he will remain in suspense until 1975.

"Health food" stores are popping up all over the country at a remarkable rate. According to estimates a few years ago there were about 300. Today there are some 3,500. Call it a fad or a craze or a thoughtful switch away from processed foods to organic, natural ones.

Let's look in on one on East 79th Street in New York, an upper middle-class neighborhood. It is one of four opened within the year in this affluent district.

Alma Pacheco, a full-blooded Delaware Indian, is the proprietor. A friendly woman, she says that she and her tall, dark-eyed son, 21, her assistant in the store, dance at Indian festivals and private parties. Her husband, Raul Pacheco, a Puerto Rican, with an amiable smile, used to be a professional weight lifter and body builder. He explains that he selects the books for the store. He learned all about health from his profession.

Teen-agers and career girls are heavy customers. But so also are those 35 to 45.

"A lot of women come in with their babies in carriages or just able to walk," Mrs. Pacheco says.

The biggest sellers are whole grain cereals, natural honey, organic raisins, protein supplements, brewers yeast and vitamins.

"Others are goat's milk, organically grown sunflower seeds, soybean puree and Avoria rice from Italy," she says.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. GEORGE CARAWAY

Miss Andrea Dale Smith and George Alvin Caraway III exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony on Saturday evening, Aug. 21, at 8 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Naples, Texas with the Rev. V.A. Cox officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dale Smith and the parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. George Alvin Caraway Jr., all of Naples.

The wedding music was provided by Mrs. Kenneth Alexander at the organ, and Mrs. Morris Craig, soloist.

The altar was centered with an ivy-entwined arch holding two white doves joined with white ribbon. The arch was flanked by two seven-branched candelabras bearing tall white tapers and pedestal baskets holding white gladioli, spider mums and daisies. Large ferns were at vantage points and a white prie dieu was in front of the setting. Pews were marked with blue, green and pink bows centered with daisies and ivy.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of ivory silk peau de soie cut with a scoop neckline and elbow length sleeves. A wide band of ivory Belgian lace at the waistline trimmed the tightly molded bodice. The Belgian lace also encircled the bottom of the controlled skirt.

A back accent was tiny covered buttons and a bow centered beneath a rose. The French silk illusion mantilla, lace bordered, swept into a cathedral-length train. The bride carried a cascade of daisies on top of a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a diamond drop necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Smith of Mountain Home, Ark. Her formal length gown of blue dotted voile had an embroidered chain of white daisies at the empire waist. She wore a daisy chain choker and a double flat bow with layers of tulle as her headpiece. She carried a white basket with an arrangement of daisies.

The bridesmaid, Miss Betsy Collins of Kansas City, Kan., was dressed in the same manner with her gown being Nile green. The flower girl, Melissa Caraway, sister of the bridegroom, was dressed like the other attendants, wearing pink.

George Caraway Jr., served his son as best man. The groomsmen were Charles Hamilton.

Ushers were Brad Caraway, brother of the bridegroom, Tommy Griffin of Daingerfield, and George Smith, brother of the bride. Ringbearer was Jason Smith, nephew of the bride.

Mrs. Craig sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt before the altar. Before leaving the church, the couple lighted a tall white memory candle symbolizing the unity of two into one.

During the processional, the bride and her father paused by the side of her mother and presented her a rose, and during the recessional, the couple paused by the side of the bridegroom's mother and

Coaches Visit Kiwanis Club on Tuesday

Football was the topic of discussion at Tuesday's meeting of Hope Kiwanis Club. Head Coach Ronnie Higgins of the Hope High Bobcats and his assistants, Willie Tate, Jake Honea, and Johnny McMurry, were guests of the club with Coach Higgins discussing the Bobcats and their prospects for the 1971 season.

Coach Higgins briefly reviewed the schedule of workouts. The first five days were devoted to conditioning drills in shorts, the first day in pads was spent discovering who the real hitters were, and then started the teaching of techniques and team work.

Forty five young men reported for the starting workouts. This number has now dropped to thirty nine. However, a few more men will perhaps report later as they return to school from summer jobs. In this year's turnout there are sixteen seniors who will give leadership and poise to the team.

The Bobcats will open the season this Friday night with Ashdown, the game being played in Ashdown, and meet Prescott here the following Friday, September 10th.

Immediately prior to the Prescott game, from 5 to 7 p.m. the Kiwanis Club will hold their Annual Pancake Supper in the High School Cafeteria.

Guests at Tuesday's meeting of the Kiwanis Club were, Rev. Gaylon Decious and A.M. Hewitt both of Hope.

Chihuahuas rank as the smallest dogs.

Sees Camden Fights and Hope as Contenders

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Luther Guinn helps Arkadelphia's offense even when he doesn't have the ball. He's that much of a threat.

Guinn's presence in the Arkadelphia lineup for the third straight year is one of the reasons Arkadelphia is favored in District 7AA, possibly the strongest AA district in the state.

"He's valuable to use in more ways than just his great running ability," says Arkadelphia coach Frank Spainhour. "The defense has to be aware of Luther at all times and last year this helped our running game immensely."

Spainhour says that "pound for pound" the 150-pound Guinn is the "most durable football player I've ever coached."

"He can do so many things well," Spainhour said. "He is aggressive, smart, and a great competitor. Although he's small, he doesn't mind getting hit. He gets a lot of our tough yardage."

Spainhour must find a replacement for quarterback Bill Vining from among Danny Melton, Steve Tolar, Wesley Chuck and Gary Benson.

Spainhour sees Camden and Hope as the top teams in the league.

Camden was 8-1 last season and the Panthers should once again be potent with quarterback Gordon Parham leading the attack. However, linebacker Dean Jamerson, is the only returning starter on defense.

Hope quarterback Tommy Frazier is back after guiding the Bobcats to a 7-3 record in 1970. Halfback Ray Wheelington is one of many starters returning on offense and defensive tackle Lynn Norton should be outstanding.

Here is a rundown on the other AA districts in the state:

1AA—Rogers is a good bet to win the title for the fourth straight year. Jim Casto, an excellent running back before being injured last year, has been moved to quarterback and fullback Alan Davidson gained almost 1,000 yards last fall. Siloam Springs could be a contender, returning 15 lettermen from a team that went 3-6-1. One of the best may be end Ken Stuckey.

2AA—Van Buren is the favorite. The Pointers went 6-4 last year and have 17 lettermen returning, including halfback Brad Thomas, quarterback Lynn Healy and end Gary Reese. Two of the Pointers' losses last year were to Fort Smith Northside and Fort Smith Southside and both have been dropped from the schedule.

3AA—Buster Johnson is the new coach at Batesville and he may have inherited a district champion. The Pioneers were 6-4 in 1970 and have 23 lettermen returning. Quarterback David Stewart is considered one of the best passers in the league and he has a fine receiver in Sam Cooke. Newport, Paragould and Pocahontas are all considered contenders.

4AA—Stuttgart appears to have a slight edge over Brinkley and DeWitt. Stuttgart upset Arkadelphia in the finals of the Class AA playoff in 1970 and could be as good if coach Max Graham can find a quarterback. Running backs Doyle Cross, Carl Piggie and Jim Black are among the 12 regulars who return. Brinkley was 6-3-1 last year and has 13 lettermen back including flashy running back Jimmy Rogers. DeWitt has little experience in the backfield, but tackle James O'Neal and end Richard LaFargue are superb performers.

5AA—Russellville was 3-7 last year after three straight 9-2 seasons but should be near the top this year. Coach Paul Pugh says quarterback Joe Whiteside is one of the best he has ever coached and tailback Virgil Williamson and fullback Wendell Van Ess are experienced. Morilton was 8-2 last year in a different league and has 20 lettermen returning. Quarterback Wayne Martin and tailback James McDaniels form the nucleus of a sound attack.

6AA—Experience in both the offensive and defensive lines

Northside Rated Tops in Football

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Chalk up one for Roger Carter and tradition.

Carter, possibly the best back in Fort Smith Northside history, and the Grizzlies' winning tradition are the primary reasons Northside has been accorded the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press preseason Arkansas high school football poll.

The Grizzlies were named first on 10 of 14 votes cast by the panel of sportswriters and sportscasters and piled up 136½ points. Northside shared the top spot on another ballot with Little Rock Hall. The Warriors received only one other first place vote but finished a solid second in the poll with 121½ points.

Both Northside and Hall, members of Class AAAA, have been at or near the top of the poll for several years.

"We appreciate the No. 1 tag but we're not jumping off the back of the stadium because of it," said Northside coach Charles Presley. "It's easy to get there but it's hard to stay there."

Little Rock Parkview, the favorite in Class AAA-West along with Hot Springs, was third in the poll with 102 points. Hot Springs finished fourth in the balloting with 95 points.

Little Rock Catholic is fifth, followed by Pine Bluff, Jonesboro, Little Rock McClellan and Rogers. Stuttgart and El Dorado tied for the No. 10 spot.

Little Rock Catholic and Pine Bluff are given the best chance of winning the Class AAAA title if Northside and Hall falter. El Dorado is a darkhorse AAAA.

Jonesboro and McClellan are the favorites in AAA-East. Rogers is picked to win its fourth straight 1AA championship and Stuttgart is the defending state champion in Class AA.

Four of the teams in the top 10 meet this week, Stuttgart playing Northside Thursday and Hall meeting Parkview Friday.

In Class AA, Rogers led the way followed by Stuttgart and Arkadelphia. McCrory, Nashville and Joe T. Robinson ranked 1-2-3 in Class A. Gentry was the top vote-getter in Class B followed by Murfreesboro and Dierks.

Here is The Associated Press top 10 with first place votes in parentheses and total points at right:

1. FS Northside (10½)	136½
2. LR Hall (1½)	121½
3. LR Parkview	102
4. Hot Springs (1)	95
5. LR Catholic	48
6. Pine Bluff	44
7. Jonesboro (1)	39
8. LR McClellan	35
9. Rogers	22
10. (tie) Stuttgart	22

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Arkadelphia, Benton, Fayetteville, Forrest City, Hope, LR Central, Malvern, North Little Rock, North Little Rock Northeast, Russellville, Springdale and Van Buren.

The Athletics were leading 5-2, when Jorge Roque brought life to the Travelers in the top of the sixth. Mike McDonald started the inning with a walk, advanced to third on Don Kirkland's single to left and scored on Roque's pinch double to left.

Tommy Heintzelman walked with one out to load the bases. Wayne Dees flied out and Kirkland broke for home and Roque ran for third. Roque was nailed at third before Kirkland could cross the plate.

make Searcy the choice. The Lions were only 4-6 last year, but have 15 lettermen returning. Tackle Adrian Hickmon is considered a top college prospect. Wayne Miller and Ken Morton are also highly regarded.

8AA—Warren appears to be the favorite with 25 lettermen back from a 7-2-1 season. Quarterback David Taylor and fullback Al Jackson should make for a sound attack and tackle Larry Booker heads the list of defenders.

Wayne Miles Promising Sophomore

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Wayne Miles needs athletics. And athletics will always have a need for people like Wayne Miles.

Miles is now a promising sophomore fullback for the Arkansas Razorbacks. But his path from his hometown to Magnolia to Fayetteville hasn't been an easy one.

Shortly before his freshman year the Miles family moved from Louisiana to a farm outside the Columbia County seat.

"We had enough to eat and a place to live," said Miles. "We raised much of our food in our own garden and kept cows on our 80 acres, but we all had to work to make it."

Miles' father, who also worked as a barber, realized his income would not support his family of six and have spare money to send his second son through college.

"My first year in high school, Dad told me I would have to put myself through college," Miles said. "He said I had the body frame and size to get a scholarship so it was up to me to earn one."

Miles played football and basketball his first two years.

And during these seasons, people living on the 10-mile stretch between the Miles' farm and Magnolia became accustomed to seeing the sturdy, dark-eyed youth walking and hitch-hiking home every evening.

"I used to get up at 6 a.m. to make it in time for our morning practice during two-a-days," said Miles. "Between practices, I would stay in town, sometimes eating with friends, or sometimes, when I had the money, eating at a cafe. After the evening practice I hitch-hiked home."

Magnolia won second place in the state AA basketball tournament in 1968. Miles was a starting sophomore forward and was named to the All-State basketball team.

Although he possessed outstanding basketball ability, Miles and his father realized football offered his best chance for a scholarship. That spring, he decided to quit basketball and concentrate on football.

"I had a special way of getting in shape during the summer," said Miles. "After Dad plowed our fields, I would put on old boots and run through BATTING—Don Kessinger, Cubs, stroked five singles, including the game-winning hit in the 10th inning, as Chicago edged Montreal 7-6 in the opener of a doubleheader and added two singles in the nightcap, which was suspended after six innings with the Expos leading 8-1.

PITCHING—Gaylord Perry, Giants, blanked Atlanta on seven hits 9-0.

IT HAS BEEN a bad year for the favorites. First thoroughbred Hoist the Flag was sidelined with a broken rear right leg earlier this summer, then New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath tore ligaments in his left knee during an exhibition game. Hoist the Flag will never race again but Namath is expected back in the Jets' lineup in November.

Mets Talk of Moving to New Jersey

NEW YORK (AP)—M. Donald Grant, chairman of the board of the New York Mets, said Tuesday he would recommend moving the baseball team to New Jersey if New York City succeeds in forcing the Mets to accept the New York Yankees as co-tenants at Shea Stadium.

Sanford Garelik, president of the City Council, has proposed that the Yankees share Shea Stadium. There has been speculation that the American League club might leave New York if the city fails to purchase and refurbish Yankee Stadium.

The New York Giants of the National Football League, present tenants in Yankee Stadium, recently announced plans to move to a proposed sports complex in New Jersey for the 1975 season.

New York City had announced a plan to buy and renovate Yankee Stadium for $24 million but the Giants' shift has dimmed the proposal.

Meanwhile, Yankees President Michael Burke met with Mayor John Lindsay and listed four times which the city must guarantee in order to insure that the Yanks remain in New York.

They are the modernization of the 48-year-old stadium, increased parking from 3,000 to them. There's nothing like running in soggy, fresh plowed ground to get you in shape."

His junior year marked both the best and worst of Miles' high school years. Magnolia captured the state AA football crown and he was the leading rusher. But in the spring, a fire leveled the Miles' home, leaving them only what they were wearing.

"My junior summer I lived with another football player," explained Miles. "I hauled hay, like I did every summer, and helped the family save so we could rebuild."

Miles once again led his team in rushing his senior year and was named the district's most valuable back and was selected to the AA All-State team.

After the season, Miles received contacts by every SWC school plus Notre Dame, LSU, Alabama and Oklahoma.

"I remember the times the Razorbacks were in the Cotton Bowl when I was a kid in Louisiana and I liked their spirit, so I came here," said Miles.

Miles showed much improvement throughout his freshman year and is expected to see a lot of action for the Razorbacks this season.

Arkansas opens its season in Little Rock Sept. 11 against California.

10,000 vehicles, upgrading the environment of the neighborhood in the Bronx and road construction to improve the flow of traffic.

Lindsay set a 30-day period in which he and his advisors will set up a program which will be acceptable to the Yankees. The plan would then be submitted to the Board of Estimate for approval.

Stars Absent But Drama Makes It Up

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Drama through limited seedings is expected to make up for the absence of stars in today's start of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

With 10 of the world's top players, including defending champions Ken Rosewall and Margaret Court, bypassing this 12-day, $160,000 extravaganza on grass, tournament officials decided to rank only eight of the 128 men, instead of 20 as last year, to make it the widest open of U.S. Opens. Eight of the 64 women also were seeded.

But last-minute injuries and exhaustion forced the seedings to be pared among the women and revamped for the men. Australian Rod Laver, seeded No. 3, pulled out pleading fatigue. Britain's Virginia Wade, No. 3 among the women, withdrew after she broke her ankle in the Eastern Lawn Tennis Championships last Saturday.

In another last-minute maneuver, tournament officials reneged on an earlier plan to make opening day a "for men only" affair with the women waiting in the wings for a Thursday start. Now the top half of the men's draw and the lower half of the women's draw are playing today with the remainder scheduled for Thursday.

Top-seeded John Newcombe, the Australian who won Wimbledon, was scheduled to open today's action on the center court against French Open titleist Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia.

Also scheduled for top billing are former Davis Cup teammates No. 7 seed Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Charlie Pasarell of Puerto Rico; No. 2 Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, runner-up to Mrs. Court here last year, and Betty Stove of the Netherlands, and Ilie Nastase of Romania and Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico.

Mrs. Court, whose victory here last year clinched a tennis Grand Slam, passed up her title defense because of pregnancy.

Also bypassing the Open, in a growing war being waged between professionals and amateurs are Australian pros Tony Roche, Roy Emerson and Rosewall, as well as Andres Gimeno of Spain and Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

Broyles Is Pleased With the Offense

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said he was pleased with the improvement shown by the Razorback offense during Tuesday's practice.

He said the offense worked "smoother" than it had in several days. "The passing was much improved and the receiving was good," said Broyles.

Quarterback Joe Ferguson's passing and the pass blocking by the offense had slumped during the past week, Broyles said. He said the improvement Tuesday was a "normal reversal."

Broyles also said the defense did a good job, but not as good as he would have liked. "They were just sore and didn't do as well," he said.

The Razorback coach said he planned another full scrimmage this Saturday.

Coal Town Racing Center for a Day

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—This is the day Du Quoin, a southern Illinois coal field town of 6,600, becomes the once-a-year harness racing center of the world.

Nine three-year-old trotters will compete over the Du Quoin State Fair's one-mile, clay-surfaced track for the standard-bred sport's most coveted crown.

Some 20,000 fans will pack the fairgrounds grandstand and bleacher annexes for the Hambletonian trotting classic.

Forgotten while the colts race for $129,770 in prize money will be the grandstand exhibits below—the prize burnt-sugar cake of Mrs. Lawrence Taylor of Tamaroa, Ill.; the blue-ribbon canned gooseberries of Mr. Enoch Holman of Benton, Ill.; and the first-place parsnips of Sam Bickers of Palestine, Ill.

Much of the fairgrounds' 1,800 acres will be covered with parked automobiles. Green hill-sides that once were strip mine spoil banks will be occupied by fans who are hunting vantage points.

Harness racing followers will cheer for their favorites from a fast field that includes Top Hanover, Quick Pride, Speedy Crown, Savor, A. C.'s Orion, Keystone Hilliard, Hoot Speed, Lightning Larry and Anchor Boy.

Carl Yastrzemski, with the boos of the crowd ringing in his ears and the threat of a trade hanging over his head, took a bat in his hands and shut the mouths of his critics ... at least temporarily.

The veteran Boston slugger, in the worst slump of his 11-year career, smashed a dramatic run scoring single with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning Tuesday night, giving the Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

"Under the circumstances, it was one of the most satisfying hits I've gotten in a long time," said the relieved Yastrzemski. "However, nothing is too satisfying when you're 13½ games out (the margin by which the third-place Red Sox trail the frontrunning Orioles in the American League's East Division). But you keep trying."

This has been a very "trying" season—and week—for the 32-year-old left fielder, who has long been considered an untouchable on the Red Sox.

After starting out at a .300 pace, he injured a thumb May 31 while making a diving play in the outfield. Then, he admittedly developed bad batting habits and hasn't been able to break them.

It sent his batting average slipping to its current .260 average, resulting in the Red Sox dropping out of contention in the East race, brought on a chorus of boos from the fans at Boston's Fenway Park and prompted owner Tom Yawkey to say that every player on the club, including Yastrzemski, was available for trade.

While Boston was momentarily slowing Baltimore's drive toward the East title, Oakland was continuing its merry romp toward the West Division championship, beating California 4-1.

Elsewhere in the AL, Detroit and Cleveland split a two-night doubleheader, the Tigers winning the opener 6-1 and the Indians taking the nightcap 6-3; Minnesota edged Chicago 4-3 in 10 innings; Washington defeated New York 6-5, and Kansas City downed Milwaukee 6-4. In the National League, it was Pittsburgh 7, Philadelphia 5; San Francisco 9, Atlanta 0; Cincinnati 2, San Diego 1; Los Angeles 6 Houston 1; St. Louis 2, New York 1, and Chicago 7 Montreal 6 in 10 innings of their first game. The second game was suspended after six innings with Montreal leading 8-1.

Yastrzemski, considered one of the game's superstars after leading the Red Sox to the American League pennant in 1967, winning the batting title three times, and hitting 40 homers in each of the past two seasons, was booed every time he stepped to the plate against the Orioles Tuesday night. The booing, has been virtually automatic the past three months. Yastrzemski's game winning hit came off Jim Palmer, 16-7, and scored Mike Fiore, who had walked as a pinch hitter and moved to third on Doug Griffin's double. It also enabled reliever Luis Tiant, 1-7, to gain his first victory since Aug. 8, 1970.

The A's, heading toward their first division title, broke a 1-1 tie against California in the eighth inning on Reggie Jackson's 400-foot run scoring double and Rick Monday's two-run triple. John "Blue Moon" Odom, 10-9 and reliever Darold Knowles combined to stop the Angels on five hits.

Joe Coleman tossed a four-hitter for his 15th victory and Norm Cash drove in four runs with his 27th homer and a single in Detroit's opening game victory over Cleveland. Dick McAuliffe cracked his 17th homer for the Tigers.

In the nightcap, rookie Chris Chambliss' three-run homer and Graig Nettles' two-run blast, his 23rd, were the big hits for the Indians. Sam McDowell, a 20-game winner for Cleveland last season, made a rare relief appearance and earned his first save of the season with two scoreless innings.

Minnesota broke a 3-3 tie against Chicago in the 10th inning on a walk to Danny Thompson, a sacrifice, Rod Carew's single, an intentional walk and Harmon Killebrew's sacrifice fly over the White Sox' five-man infield.

Rookie Steve Braun drove in two Minnesota runs with a triple and a sacrifice fly, and scored another. Mike Hershberger homered for Chicago.

Del Unser scampered home from second base on shortstop Frank Banker's error with two out in the ninth inning, giving Washington its victory over New York. Don Mincher capped a five-run Washington sixth with a pinch grand slam homer.

Home runs by Joe Keough and rookie pitcher Lance Clemons helped Kansas City beat Milwaukee. Keough's drive tied the score 4-4 in the seventh, and Paul Schaaf put the Royals ahead with a sacrifice fly later in the inning. Clemons hit his first major league homer in the eighth.

Aging Ladies Find Golf Is Answer

By DALA MCKINSEY
Associated Press Writer
BISMARCK, Ark. (AP) —For several decades, the farm land around the homes of Mrs. Addie Dixon and Mrs. Mary McDaniel's homes meant hard work, and plenty of it.

Now, it is a source of immeasurable pleasure for both ladies, who will be 73 next month. Aunt Mary and Miss Addie, as they are known around here, are identical twins.

Four years ago, instead of joining the Geritol set on the front porch swing, they took up golf.

Now they both shoot an average of 39 on the par 35 Caddo Creek Country Club course.

"I just forget my troubles, everything is laid aside," Aunt Mary says. "It is the most enjoyable thing I have ever experienced."

"It is a nice sport — as nice as we've got," Aunt Mary said.

Unless Aunt Mary's church, the Church of Christ, is holding services or a revival, she is on

Hot Torre Keeps Cards in Running

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Torre has bunted once this season and the way he's swinging the bat once is enough.

Torre's St. Louis Cardinals were locked in a 1-1 tie with the New York Mets Tuesday night—Torre singled home a first-inning run and took over the major league RBI lead from Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell 113-112—when Matty Alou opened the ninth inning with a bunt single off reliever Danny Frisella. That brought up Torre.

"I was looking for the bunt sign," said the slugging third baseman. "I really was. I looked down at third base coach Vern Benson for a long time but he didn't give it to me. I got the fork ball three times and I happened to hit the last one up the middle."

Actually, it was a line drive to center field, sending Alou to third, from where he scored the winning run in a 2-1 victory when Ted Simmons laced an 0-2 pitch from Tug McGraw to left.

That kept the Cards five games behind Pittsburgh, which rallied from a five-run deficit to beat Philadelphia 7-5.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Chicago Cubs edged Montreal 7-6 in 10 innings in the first game of a doubleheader. The nightcap was suspended with the Expos leading 8-1 after six innings and will be completed today. San Francisco trounced Atlanta 9-0, Los Angeles whipped Houston 6-1 and Cincinnati nipped San Diego 2-1.

In the American League, Boston shaded Baltimore 4-3, Detroit downed Cleveland 6-1 but the Indians came back to take the nightcap 6-3, Washington squeezed past the New York Yankees 6-5, Oakland defeated California 4-1, Kansas City beat Milwaukee 6-4 and Minnesota turned back the Chicago White Sox 4-3 in 10 innings.

Torre credited the St. Louis Astro turf and the fact that Simmons bats behind him for the fact that he leads the NL in batting average and hits as well as RBIs.

The ex-catcher also made a fine play on Donn Clendenon's slow hopper to end the Mets' the course.

Aunt Mary said the language on the golf course and in the club house is as "nice" as at church.

Aunt Mary walks the course and sometimes plays as much as 27 holes a day. Her sister has "leg trouble" and rides in her own golf cart.

Ed Tallach, 25, the golf pro at the club, said he was surprised the first day he began work when both ladies walked in and challenged him to a putting duel.

"It was hard to believe," he said. "The first day they walked in and said they were going to play and asked if I would like to go out and putt." Tallach said he is certain other people their age play, but not with their "quality and regularity."

"They have to be pretty sick or it has got to be pretty cold for them to miss a day," he said.

"They are both real good putters," Tallach said, and "from 50 yards out, they are both as good as anybody I've seen." Tallach says he plays with the sisters at least once a week. Miss Addie, the mother of five boys and a girl, and her family built the golf course.

She said her sons convinced her and her husband to develop the course on their land after they were forced to give up raising cattle because a dam was built on part of their land. The course was sold last January to Tallach and his father.

"We made our living out of the soil that is in that golf course now," said Miss Addie. Two of the greens are directly adjacent to her property and the clubhouse is about 500 yards away.

The sisters learned to play by watching others and getting pointers from Tallach.

Aunt Mary uses a putter and a 3-wood for her game, while Miss Addie uses a wider variety of clubs.

Both ladies say they intend to keep playing golf as long as they health holds up. "I will play as long as I can tote a club and walk or ride," Aunt Mary declares.

ninth with two runners aboard, grabbing it on the short hop and firing to first.

Jerry Reuss went the route for the Cards, striking out 10. New York's Nolan Ryan fanned 12 in six innings.

Deron Johnson and Oscar Gamble drove in two runs apiece as the Phillies piled up a 3-0 bulge over the Pirates. But Rennie Stennett smacked a two-run single in the fifth. Milt May drove in a run in the sixth and Pittsburgh rallied for four in the seventh to win it.

Gene Clines' two-run pinch double tied the score and Manny Sanguillen stroke a bases-loaded single for the final two runs.

Don Kessinger's fifth hit of the game, a bases-loaded single in the 10th inning, gave the Cubs their opening game triumph over the Expos. Brock Davis' RBI single in the seventh tied the score.

Chicago's Ken Holtzman was breezing along on a one-hitter in the nightcap when the Expos exploded for eight runs in the sixth inning before darkness forced the carryover.

The Expos loaded the bases and Ron Woods' double and Ron Hunt's triple produced four runs. Bob Bailey singled a run home. Boots Day delivered a two-run single and John Boccabella, who started it all with a single, singled Day across.

Ken Henderson's three-run homer and two-run singles by Dave Kingman and Chris Speier backed Gaylord Perry's seven-hit hurling as the Giants crushed the Braves and remained eight games in front of Los Angeles in the NL West.

Wes Parker socked a two-run homer as the Dodgers scored three times in the first inning and trounced the Astros behind rookie Doyle Alexander's nine-hit pitching. Alexander also scored the last two Dodgers runs on hits by Willie Davis and Bill Russell.

The Reds pushed across their winning run in the ninth inning on Tommy Helms' infield hit, a walk and Pete Rose's single to edge the Padres, who tied the score in the top of the inning on Leron Lee's double and Larry Stahl's pinch single.

The Irish wolfhounds rank as the largest dogs.

Tennessee Packs Plenty of Potential

By ESCAR THOMPSON
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) —

Tennessee, 10-1 last season and ranked No. 4 nationally, is a football team that packs the potential for gaining national prominence in 1971.

Bill Battle, starting his second season as Tennessee head coach, concedes his squad, including 41 lettermen, is loaded with talent.

The Volunteers are solid on defense, have excellent running backs, some fine receivers and several exciting newcomers.

There are some problems, such as quarterback and the interior offensive line. Even so, the Vols should be a strong contender for the Southeastern Conference title.

"It takes three elements—defense, a strong running game and a complementary passing attack—to win a championship," Battle says. "Whether we get all these things will depend largely on the leadership of our seniors."

Tennessee has some standout seniors and Battle says he expects them to provide the same type leadership he got from last year's senior corps.

Take Jackie Walker, team captain and linebacker. Or safety Bobby Majors, who led the nation in pass interceptions last fall with 10. Or fullback Curt Watson, who is less than 300 yards shy of setting an all-time Tennessee rushing record.

If Walker, Majors, Watson at all provide the extra punch Battle expects, then the quarterback and offensive line problems should diminish.

Dennis Chadwick, No. 2 signal caller last fall, gets the nod at quarterback. He is 6-foot-3, weighs 190 pounds and is a junior from Decatur, Ga.

Chadwick will operate in a backfield with Watson and either senior George Silvey or sophomore Hansel Stanback as running backs and Stan Trott as flanker.

Tennessee has the best regular season won-lost record 42-7-1 of any major college team in the last five years. Battle and his staff are anxious to preserve it.

The test will come in how the Vols fare against California-Santa Barbara, Auburn, Florida, Georgia Tech, Alabama, Mississippi State, Tulsa, South Carolina, Kentucky, Vanderbilt and Penn State.

Giles Does Not Think About Jinx

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Marvin "Vinny" Giles doesn't believe he's jinxed in the annual National Amateur Golf Championship, which gets underway today at Wilmington Country Club.

The 28-year-old Giles has played in seven of the last eight National Amateurs and three times he finished second—1967, 1968 and 1969.

Someone asked Giles if it wasn't time for the law of averages to make him a winner in the Big One.

Giles took time for practicing to explain his philosophy about the tournament he has almost won.

"The law of averages and

Judy Going After His Own Fumbles

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH (AP) — It's not the everyday type drill you see for a quarterback.

There was Texas Christian senior quarterback Steve Judy practicing fumble recoveries under the watchful eye of offensive backfield coach Marvin that type of thing doesn't mean anything," said the University of Virginia Law School graduate. "You have to play well and that's the only way to win."

Giles was one of 150 players who teed off in the four-day, 72-hole test over the 6,872-yard Wilmington course. He is one of the favorites, along with Jim Simons of Butler, Pa.; Ben Crenshaw, University of Texas sophomore; Tom Kite Jr., another Longhorn and runnerup last year; 1966 winner Gary Cowan of Canada; Eddie Pearce of Temple Terrace, Fla., and four-time Canadian Amateur champion Nick Westwood.

Giles, an investment banker in Richmond, Va., said the only time he was really disappointed in the National Amateur was in 1967, when he lost by a stroke to Bob Dickson, now a professional.

The tournament has a touch of youth with 56 starters under 21, four of them a tender 17.

The oldest starter was Charles Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., at 57. He played in this tournament in 1930, the year Bobby Jones made his grand slam.

Kristynik.

"I had a habit of not filling on my fumbles," said Judy. "So coach Kristynik decided he'd pitch a few balls on the ground and make me get after 'em."

Judy's fumble drill is an example of the new order under head coach Jim Pittman, a tough disciplinarian who refuses to coddle even the most valuable player on his team.

"It's the most I've ever been pushed," said Judy. "I've been patted in the past. We need the discipline."

The discipline is everywhere. Star running back Larry Harris, one of the three Negro players on the team, said, "You don't catch anybody lying around after a play. They get up quick. In the huddle, every one is standing straight with their eyes on the quarterback. We break the huddle with enthusiasm."

"You jog everywhere you go. You're never allowed to take your helmet off on the field. When coach Pittman talks, everybody listens. You don't hear anybody whispering in the back-ground."

Of the 32 scholarship players who quit, Harris said, "They didn't have their hearts in football. I believe you have to make sacrifices to play football."

Harris added, "I believe in hard work, training and sound discipline. I'm looking forward to professional football. I don't want anybody to say I had an easy road."

Judy said he believes the discipline and hard work will lead the Horned Frogs to a South-west Conference championship.

"We wouldn't be out there sweating every day if we didn't believe," said Judy. "I tell you one thing—everybody I've seen around here is in condition."

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Type of Arthritis With Wide Effects

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am 37 years old. When I was about 12 years old, I was shot with a "BB" gun above the eye. I am quite certain the shot (copper) remained in the skin because I used to be able to feel what it felt like. I have had rheumatoid arthritis for over 14 years and have had many medical examinations but never mentioned the shot before. My question is—could the copper in the shot in my system be in any way related to the rheumatoid arthritis or what effect, if any, could the copper have on the system? My health seems to be generally poor.

Dear Reader—All the people who wear copper bracelets to "cure" arthritis would be very distressed at your suggestion. I doubt the small shot has any significant effect on your body or your health.

Yes, I understand that you probably feel in poor health in general and that isn't too surprising. Rheumatoid arthritis is more than just a disease of the joints. It does cause fatigue and in many people a feeling of generalized illness. It affects the whole body. A low-grade fever is common. It is a serious disease and deserves careful attention to prevent deformities and to help a person lead as normal a life as possible.

It is important that the person with rheumatoid arthritis receive adequate medical attention. Much can be done. This includes measures to prevent deformities.

It is important to learn the best way to try to maintain a full range of motion for all the joints. In certain cases where deformities have occurred, surgery can be very useful.

I would like to recommend to you the services of The Arthritis Foundation, a non-profit organization formed to help people with arthritis. The organization works with doctors and community leaders. They help support arthritis clinics that integrate all the different specialty areas needed and even home-care programs. Some family doctors like to have their patients seen by a specialized clinic, geared to help with the complex problems of the arthritis patient. Such clinics can often pro-

From time to time we have reported the death of a dear friend but none in the world of bridge has saddened us more than that of Russ Winterbotham.

Our column is 22 years old and for the first 20 years Russ checked every word. It was part of his job, but he treated it as a labor of love. He retired a couple of years ago but kept his interest in the Jacoby column and helped us develop JACOBY MODERN.

Russ was an enthusiastic bridge player and sent us many hands but never let us use his name. Now that he can't stop us, here is one he played about 10 years ago.

His use of Blackwood was slightly unsound, but he expected North to hold a better hand. At that, the slam would be a cinch without a club lead. However, West led a club and Russ was in trouble. He could take the club finesse but Russ knew his left-hand opponent was a firm believer in the old rule of never leading away vide services or have facilities that the family doctor may not be able to support from his office facility. A doctor who wishes to use these services for his patients can do so by contacting his nearest Arthritis Foundation Chapter by checking listings in the telephone books of larger cities or the nearest chapter can be located through the services of the Arthritis Foundation, 1212 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10036. The chapters also have valuable literature for patients who need to learn more about arthritis.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The word cop as applied to policemen is believed to derive from the verb "to cop," meaning to catch or to nab, according to The World Almanac. London policemen are called bobbies after Sir Robert (Bobby) Peel, who organized the police force.

Ferry Crew Defended by Ministry

By CHRIS ELIOU
Associated Press Writer

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greek Marine Ministry came to the defense of the operators and crew of the ferryboat Heleanna Monday night, maintaining that the ship met the highest international shipping standards before last weekend's shipboard fire and the crew performed well during the emergency.

The ministry said a Supreme Court judge would be named to head the commission investigating the fire off the Italian coast, in which at least 25 persons died. There were 1,150 survivors.

The Italian police, acting on the complaints of some passengers, arrested the captain of the ship, Dimitrios Antipas, 43, to prevent his leaving Italy. He was charged with culpable homicide, sailing without adequate firefighting and lifesaving equipment and leaving his ship while "numerous passengers were still aboard."

Antipas denied all these charges on Sunday, and the Marine Ministry backed him up.

It said the 11,232-ton Heleanna had been in excellent condition, met the highest requirements of the U.S. Bureau of Shipping and also met all requirements of the 1960 international convention for the protection of human life at sea and had all the certificates of worthiness as a passenger ship.

Defending the performance of the crew, a second ministry statement said: "During the abandonment of the ship there was complete order and no panic as has been written in the press. Proof of this are the small number of people who lost their lives and the large number of those who were saved, and also the measures taken for the infants and young children who were taken care of by the crew." "Of course," the statement added, "it can happen that some people do not do their job properly during such accidents."

A dispute continued over whether the ferry was overloaded.

Col. Onorio Carlesimo, chief of Brindisi port authority, announced discovery of a certificate issued at Piraeus, Greece, May 27 stipulating that Heleanna could carry a maximum of 620 persons, including crew. Italian authorities said at least 1,175 persons were on board the ferry, while her owner in Athens put the total at 1,128.

The acting Greek consul in Brindisi said, however, that another certificate allowing a greater number of passengers was on its way from Greece.

Bright Couple Lives Up to Name

Tom Bright worked in dairy science research this summer, running tests on storage temperatures.

STILLWATER—Tom and Brenda Bright live up to their name by turning out honor-roll grades ... while arising bright and early at 3:30 a.m. to pursue their dream of becoming doctors of veterinary medicine.

The couple climb out of bed at that dark hour for their seven-day-a-week job of cleaning the Oklahoma State University small-animal clinic.

Then Tom and Brenda return home to eat breakfast before a forenoon of classes.

In the afternoons, they have other jobs. Brenda babysits and does housework, while Tom does yardwork. Evenings are devoted to studying.

This busy schedule earned the Brights a pair of degrees at OSU in poultry science. Most importantly, both have been accepted this fall by OSU's College of Veterinary Medicine.

Faced with four more years of seven-day weeks and "early to bed and early to rise," are there times when they wonder if their efforts will pay?

"Yes, just about every morning," Brenda laughs. "But we've really enjoyed school so far. We like studying and working together."

"We've done it for two years and it hasn't hurt us yet," Tom says.

They're young and healthy—so young, in fact, that Brenda doesn't mind admitting that she's 22 and Tom is 23.

"We're lucky we haven't been sick," she says. "Of the two years we've worked at the clinic, I think we've only missed one morning because of sickness."

Transferring from Southern State College at Magnolia, Ark., as juniors, both have been on the OSU honor roll each semester.

Brenda was on the President's Honor Roll twice with a 4.0 grade average. Last spring, she received a senior scholarship award and was ranked 17th among the 459 seniors in OSU's College of Agriculture.

Natives of the poultry area of Hope, Ark., they came here with the goal of studying veterinary medicine. Only five persons from Arkansas are accepted into this OSU curriculum each year.

"We tried it last year and were first alternates," Tom explains. "We tried again this year and Brenda Bright had an unusual summer job. She helped care for a herd of mice used by animal scientists in selective breeding tests.

made it, so we're happy. It had to be both or none. We want to start and finish together."

Then they plan to go back to Arkansas to start a clinic for small and large animals. Tom would handle most of the large-animal cases, and Brenda the small animals.

"We hope to live out in the country, but we'll have our clinic right on the city limits," Tom speculates. "Most of our customers will be people with small animals, and they're going to come from town."

That's not an outlandish dream for a young married couple, but a lot of work and study will be necessary to make it come true.

This summer, for instance, they didn't go to school. But, in addition to their morning job, each of the Brights worked a 40-hour week at OSU laboratory tasks.

"Oh, you've got to have something to do," Tom philosophizes. "We look at it as just part of our life. We'd just be out working somewhere if we weren't in school."

Of course, I keep thinking that it would be nice to have some regular hours," Brenda says with a sigh.

That's about the only indication you get from this energetic couple of the sacrifices they're making for an education.

For instance, they don't have time for activities—except for membership in OSU's Poultry Club.

"That's an important time—at night when we're studying," Brenda explains. "We just about use all the hours in the day."

Tom and Brenda are from a poultry-producing area of Arkansas where both of their fathers are employed in the poultry business. This leads to some humorous misunderstandings.

"It's kind of hard to get some of these cowboys to understand the poultry business," Brenda says. "They still think you just throw some feed on the ground. They have no idea of the amount of money in the poultry industry."

When they came to Stillwater to apply for a job two years ago, one fellow jokingly asked them: "Y'all from Arkansas and you got on shoes?"

"We told him we put 'em on especially to come and see him," Tom grins.

One thing becomes crystal clear as you talk to the Brights. They're as intelligent as they are hard-working and, with any luck at all, they'll be heading back to Arkansas with two DVM degrees in their luggage. They're dedicated too.

"At least we'll be doing something interesting, even if we don't make any money at it," Tom says.

Brazil produces about two-thirds of the world's supply of coffee.

Some Questions Which Never Seem to Get a Satisfactory Answer

By HALE BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Questions which never seem to meet with satisfactory answers:

Why can't you whip City Hall?

When will the millennium ever get here?

Why does a dropped cufflink always roll under a bed or heavy sofa instead of an easily moved chair?

Can you have anything besides free advice that is more blessed to give than to receive?

If everything that goes up has to come down, what keeps holding taxes and prices aloft?

Is the generation gap caused by the fact that we have given our children so much latitude that all we have left to live by ourselves is longitude?

After Vietnam—what next?

Why is a man who has drunk excessively said to be three sheets to the wind—but never four or five sheets to the wind?

Was Diogenes really searching for an honest man? If so, what for?

Why is it that when you've been the life of the party the night before, you feel like walking death all the next day?

How many women cancel trips abroad because they can't stand to show their passport photos in public?

If charity begins at home, why do they seem to take up more collections in the office every year?

Who's in God's corner?

Who's on first?

If life begins at 40, what kind of a life?

Do psychiatrists talk to themselves more than other people?

Can man better his environment before he betters himself?

Thinking back over the movies you've seen recently, can you name one that is better than "King Kong"?

If you had it all to do over again, wouldn't you at least want to do it with a better class of people?

No Confidence in Government

BRINKLEY, Ark. (AP)—Rep. Bill Alexander, D - Ark., said Tuesday that most local government leaders have lost confidence in the effectiveness of the federal government to deal with survival of small towns.

Alexander was reflecting on Monday's hearing in Brinkley where he heard testimony from local and state officials on his proposal from a community development bank.

The congressman said that most of the witnesses who testified said that government red tape was discouraging local initiative. He said that in many cases, federal officials have been dictatorial to local communities in telling them what there problems are, but they have offered little help solving them.

Attorney Is Sought in San Quentin Case

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Authorities have issued an all-points bulletin for Stephen M. Bingham and charged the 29-year-old lawyer with five counts of murder in connection with a San Quentin prison escape attempt Aug. 21.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales accused Bingham of smuggling a gun to George Jackson, a black militant convict killed in the attempt, which also took five other lives.

"I have reached the conclusion that there is no way Jackson could have obtained the death gun, except during his visit with Bingham just before the killings commenced," Bales said Tuesday.

Bales said the pistol was found with five clips of live ammunition on Jackson's body after Jackson was shot down by prison tower guards.

Bales told a news conference after filing the murder complaint that Jackson underwent a thorough "skin search" before meeting Bingham.

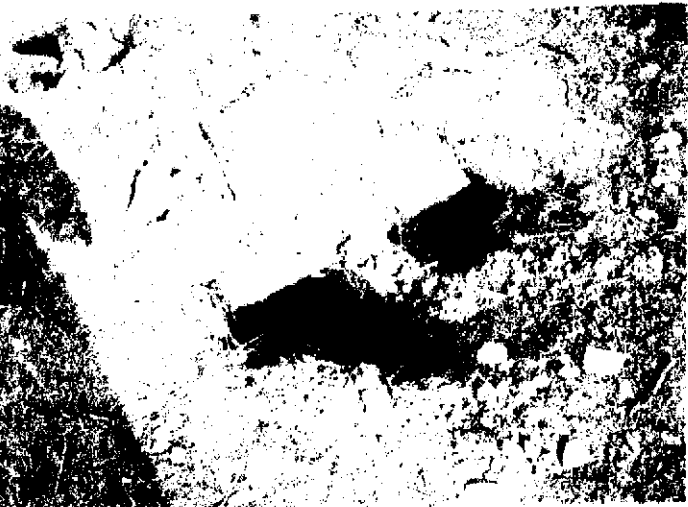

Prison officials say Jackson, one of the three "Soledad Brothers" awaiting trial for the murder of a white guard at Soledad prison, pulled a pistol from a wig and took a guard hostage after returning from the visit with Bingham.

The complaint stated that within half an hour after Jackson pulled the gun, three guards were dead in Jackson's cell. Two were killed by gunshot wounds in the back of the head, and one by throat slash.

The bodies of two inmates were found in the cell area, killed by deep cuts to the throat.

Bales said the charges against Bingham are based on the same California complicity law under which black militant Angela Davis is accused of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in an Aug. 7, 1970, shootout that took four lives at the Marin County courthouse. One of those killed was Jackson's 17-year-old brother, Jonathan.

Dangerous Bridges

A lot of folks up Yellow Creek Church way are real unhappy with the condition of the road and bridges and here's the reason why. Miss Clara Dillard took these pictures of the bridges which she calls dangerous and unsafe. She says the timbers are rotting and heavy rains are causing more and more cave-ins.

She says many persons are afraid to attend funerals at Yellow Creek Church because of the bridges. Although residents and property owners in the area pay their taxes like everyone else we have never been able to get County officials to properly repair the road, Miss Dillard said.
